In Spite of Oppressive Heat, Local Thermometer Reached

In Bottle ARR Rear of Cott again in Again was active the forest state of the control of the cont Spent and weary with his efforts of previous days, the weather man succeeded in pushing the mercury in the official Richmond thermometer no higher than 86 degrees yesterday, although there stand ready at least Chauffeur Appeals to Circuit Court.
On a charge of specifing on Broad Street Road, Burnette Maliory, a colored chauffeur, employed by J. D. Carneal, was fined $10 and costs yesterday afternoon by Magistrate 7 at the Court, Road an appeal to the Circuit Court.
R. S. Jones and L. E. Gregory pleaded an appeal to the Circuit Court.
R. S. Jones and L. E. Gregory pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding on Cary Street Road and were fined $10 and costs by Magistrate Puryear.

In a sagreed to anine by the recount, and is confident that he will gain as many total gain as many to this city to swear, aver, asseverate and declare that the temperature toward midsfernoon was all of 98. As usual, however, the weather man and several of her children were with her at the hespital. Mrs. Love in Hospital.

Mrs. S. H. Love of Lunenburg. Va. was operated on at the Johnston-Willis Sanato-fine was all of 98. As usual, however, the weather man and several of her children were with her at the hemperature toward midsfernoon was all of 98. As usual, however, the weather man smiles wanly at such remarks and points to the officious records of the hospital. There are those who profess an abit ity to prove that the local weather man deliberately falsified the thermo-meter figures in self-defense, fearing that the publication of the real maximum for yesterday would end in a night riders' party at his residence. Whether he feared that some one would tapper with the teacher. would tamper with the toddy in his tea or not, the weather man affirms over his own signature that Rich-mond was really one of the coolest spots on the map yesterday and that the acute suffering from the heat was the effect of the accumulation of humidity, which was eventually charged last night by a full-grown electrical storm. The feature of yesterday's weather map was undoubtedly the excessive heat that descended upon the blossoming settlement of Calgary, which came within an acc of losing its ancient and coveted place as the coolest spot on Uncle Sam's chart. Intense suffering in Calgary was reported, where the thermometer soared to 60 degrees, and the winter snows melted so fast that rivers flowed down by the weather man's domicile. San Fran-cisco pushed Calgary hard for its honors, having a high temperature reading of 62. It did drop to 50 in Calgary toward night, but this only slightly relieved the suffering.

Montgomery stood alone as the hottest city, with a maximum of 94, while Atlanta and Winnipeg both struggled along under a thermometer reading of 92 degrees. People at the beaches were shivering with the mercury at 70, but Norfolk itself drew just as warm a deal as Richmond.
